

STEVEN FORD

LEADERSHIP COACH & MENTOR

Steven is a Leadership Coach and Mentor with over ten years' experience. He founded his own company in 2011 to help organisations improve their business and leadership fundamentals. He has a passion for developing leadership skills and helping senior managers and companies be the very best version of themselves.

Steven's strong belief in people and their capacity to grow and develop in the right learning environment has ensured teams he has worked with achieved excellent results over many years. Steven can work effectively from "shop floor" through to the Boardroom.

His broad senior executive capability, education, and experience in executive coaching ensure his clients get a practical and empathetic coach committed to helping them navigate the road to success. Steven has also worked with several leading executive leadership companies as an Executive Coach, Mentor and Facilitator. He has undertaken coaching assignments in the Banking, Construction, Manufacturing, Wholesale, Real Estate, NFP, Mining, Public Sector, Wholesale Distribution, and Service sectors.

Steven has spent over 30 years leading successful companies in the logistics and industrial sectors in Australia and New Zealand. Steven led teams in a diverse range of businesses for leading logistics companies TNT, Toll, and Asciano and undertook eleven acquisitions and integrations. He led significant company restructures, cultural change programs and delivered substantial shareholder value over many years. As well as his excellent people development skills, he also brings a strong background in strategic development and execution.
